Gveir

VIEW SOURCE

This article is an expansion based on a canon element. For canon information on this topic, follow the link to The Witcher Wiki: Gveir.

This fan-fiction article, Gveir, was written by Witcher190. Please do not edit this fiction without the writer's permission.

Gveir also known as Kauta by the Mardu people is a legendary Aen Manche sword used by the elf hero Erunvail which is said to be found in the catacombs of the Korath Desert.

Mardu legends mention that their blade was indestructible, able to withstand anything. Some Mardu legends even claim that it can kill creatures from beyond The Dream. Used by Erunvail to guide the Aen Manche in their early times in the desert, until Erunvail went with his sword into the catacombs of the "Old Civilization" in search of the mythical objet forekdor with which to create habitable spaces in the desert so that the Aen Manche could settle and prosper as a civilization.

Karribal, the elder leader among the Mardu during the 1280s, claimed to know the exact location of the mythical sword, but died before he could reveal it both to his people and to the Fabio Sachs expedition.

Although some legends say that Ciri, became its possessor and that this sword, one of the members of Fabio Sachs' expedition, Putnam Pitch, could see it when he met the Lady of Time and Space in Hannu.

Trivia

- Gveir is a sword Ciri acquired in the catacombs of the Korath desert. It is only mentioned in the non -canon short story "Something Ends, Something Begins" and appears nowhere else in the Witcher saga.
